About the Re-employment Bridge Institute (RBI)

The RBI is a teaching/learning institute based in Kannapolis, N.C. Funded by a two-year grant from the Centralina Workforce Development Board and the North Carolina Department of Commerce, the RBI has enrolled over 1,000 business and workforce development professionals through its initial conference, workshop series and community-based consultations. The RBI is committed to sharing best practices among workforce professionals, especially in addressing the needs of business.

Conference Announcement

The 2012 Re-employment Bridge Institute 2nd National Bridging Business and Workforce Development Conference is a two-day event (Thursday afternoon and Friday morning). The conference will be held at the Embassy Suites in Concord, N.C. The conference focus is to bring together private business with workforce professionals. The intent is to provide services to the underemployed and unemployed which respond to the identified needs of business. Opportunities are afforded to participants to remain current on innovative initiatives, idea exchange and networking with colleagues.

Targeted Audiences

This conference is targeted to anyone with an interest in learning best practices in bridging the needs of business with workforce development. We seek to learn from each other in order to better serve the unemployed and underemployed. In particular; persons from the business community, workforce development boards, chambers of commerce, economic development councils, job-link centers, state employment services, community colleges, four-year academic institutions, vocational rehabilitation, aging and adult services, corrections, the faith-based community and other community-based organizations are invited.

For more information in regard to registration, call for proposals, exhibit and sponsorship opportunities, please visit <http://www.reemploymentbridge.com/conference.cfm> or contact Erin Ploplis at erin.ploplis@rccc.edu or 704-216-7202.
